BROWNIE

Dear Reader,

As you reflect on this past school year throughout the pages of this yearbook, please do not forget all those who made this year what it was. The photos and stories in these pages capture moments of joy, growth, and achievement, but behind every one of them are the people who made it all possible. Facilities spends countless hours maintaining the buildings and campus to create the best possible learning environment for all students, Pre-K-12. Your teachers poured their energy and creativity into each lesson and tried their best to support you both in and out of the classroom. They adapted, innovated, and gave so much of themselves to make sure this year was not just successful but also meaningful. Your classmates, too, helped shape this school year through friendship, teamwork, and the memories made together. School would not have been the same without the people who sat beside you in class, played with you at recess, and worked with you on group projects. As you see these members of our community in the final days of school, take a moment to say "Thank you."

From the perspective of The Brownie, we would want to say our biggest "Thank you" to our loving, hardworking, and talented faculty advisor Danielle Nekimken. As she prepares to leave her position as Advisor to the Yearbook, we cannot be more appreciative for all she has done. Danielle has been the heart and soul behind this publication. She didn't just supervise us; she empowered us. She believed in the student voice, encouraging our ideas, and supporting us through every draft and last-minute change.

With love,
Zola Pfeifer-Thomas

BROWNIE

DEDICATED TO

Sharen Pula

Fifth grade homeroom was where I learned how to become the strong student I am today, ready to take on four more years of college. Ms. Pula taught me how to annotate for the first time, a skill I will certainly use for at least the rest of my academic career. It was in her classroom where I learned how to keep my life impeccably organized with our special homework planners, so that when I arrived in Park middle school sixth grade was simply a breeze. Ms. Pula was also the first teacher to really get me excited about history, whether it was learning about medieval history through the iconic monologue assignments, or building a miniature Nandi Temple to learn about the history and architecture of southern India.

Ms. Pula's fifth grade classroom was the perfect example of the eclectic brilliance of the Park community. Each day students would come and play with one of Ms. Pula's many iconic toy rats scattered across the classroom. We gave each one a name and backstory, and they became a true bonding point for the classroom which I remember quite fondly.

Ms. Pula, you are the essence of what a Park teacher can and should be. You not only prepared me for middle school, but you taught me the skills that I still use today on my journey to become a lifelong learner. Your absence in the fifth grade hallway and the Park community will be dearly missed, and all I can say is that I'm glad we are leaving at the same time because this place truly will not be the same without you.

DEDICATED TO

Marilyn Milton

Without Ms. Milton, we would be lost. Literally. She was the first (and only) teacher to teach us geography. However, this wasn't your mother's geography class. Ms. Milton threw us into the topography of the earth by allowing us to create our own islands. She instilled in us a sense of ownership over our world and its features as we built mountains, peninsulas, isthmuses, and more. She was the first teacher to challenge us with long writing assignments that built our foundational skills as communicators. Our second-grade class was led by Ms. Milton's strong, grounding, and compassionate nature. In addition to the academics, Ms. Milton allowed us to form bonds that have lasted throughout our Park journey. Sitting together around our tables, Ms. Milton fostered a class culture that valued community without compromising the celebration of each student as an individual. We reminisce fondly on all the ways Ms. Milton incorporated music into our learning, whether it was through the simile and metaphor song that we still find ourselves humming ten years later or the times our class gathered together and listened to Ms. Milton play the hammer dulcimer while we all sang along. Our trips to Roxaboxen allowed our creativity to flow into structures and a functioning town, a town that Ms. Milton helped us bring to life with our imaginations. We were taught to not only be critical thinkers, but to be fearless in the presentation and execution of our ideas and beliefs, no matter how outlandish they might be.

We greatly value and appreciate everything Ms. Milton brought to the Park community. All three of us can trace back very important skills and lessons to her class that we will take with us into college and beyond. The impact she made on so many students here will be cherished, and we wish her luck on her future endeavors.

monarch BUTTERFLY festival.

LOWER SCHOOL

On October 11, 2024, Park held its 41st annual Monarch Festival, celebrating the Kindergarteners' long investigation of the monarch caterpillar and butterfly. "They get to find caterpillars and we watch them, like, literally watch them make a chrysalis...then we watch them come out as butterflies and we release them," Kindergarten teacher Bonnie Frost said. But the festival is not the same each time. "Every year we ask the kids to notice what's going on in our community this year," Frost said. The students look at what is going on around them and the festival changes to suit the costumes they want to have.

In the weeks leading up to the celebration, the students head the preparations for the festival, while the teachers provide the tools and support for them to make costumes and ideas. "We provide the framework of a costume, and then we just hold the glue gun," Kindergarten teacher Leah Balkoski said.

But the festival isn't just about the school's Kindergarteners. This was the second year that seniors have spoken at the celebration. "I think it was particularly exciting to see the ways that it stretched from Kindergarten to 12th grade," Lower School Principal Matthew Doyle commented.

The Monarch Festival teaches Kindergarteners a valuable lesson. "It requires everyone to see each other as an integral part of the community," Frost said. "It's a good thing to learn when you're in Kindergarten: that your role matters."

SATURDAY in the PARK

By Max Somers

Park hosted its annual Saturday in the Park on October 6. There were arts and crafts, face painting and games, food, canoeing on the pond, and much more. "I like how much of the community it brings together," CeCe Lester '26 said.

The Bruins Run, a one mile run organized by the Parents' Association, started with a lap around Kelly Field and continued down to Tompkins Field. All participants recieved a Bruins Run t-shirt and participation medal.

HALLOWEEN parade

Autumn Harvest Festival

Winter Solstice

The fifth graders put on their annual Winter Solstice Celebration. They spent the past few months creating original choreography to tell a Baltic tale about Kyosti, a sun-powered wizard, and his rival Helga, daughter of the hunger moon. The students explored the story's characters and animals through art, research, and movement.

The community came together on February 7 to celebrate the Lunar New Year. The celebration kicked off with a performance in the Meyerhoff by Chinese 2 that told the story of Nian. The tale features a beast called Nian who destroyed villages until a wise man came and told the villagers that Nian was afraid of loud sounds and the color red. People began decorating their clothes and houses in the color and using drums and firecrackers to scare him off. Eventually, Nian was defeated, and never came back again.

In addition to the performance by Chinese 2, the Lower and Middle School students also gave performances of their own. "It's fun to put together the performance with my students and it felt really good to do something fun for our younger members of our community....," Upper School Chinese teacher Xiaomu Hu said.

Everyone then moved to the cafeteria for food and activities. Spring rolls and sushi were served to the students, along with red envelopes with chocolate coins. There were also activities, like Chinese characters writing, coloring, board games, and Chinese yo-yo.

Since 2004, students and faculty from Park School and other Baltimore-area schools have participated in a transformative civil rights study trip through the American South. The journey includes visits to historic sites, museums, and meetings with key figures to deepen understanding of the Civil Rights Movement and its ongoing relevance. Participants use these experiences to spark discussions about activism and addressing civil rights challenges in Baltimore and beyond. Stops on the trip include iconic locations such as the Edmund Pettus Bridge, the National Civil Rights Museum, and a meeting with Ambassador Andrew Young.

ISAMR

INTERNATIONAL STUDENT-LED ARCTIC MONITORING AND RESEARCH

Founded in 2008, the International Student-Led Arctic Monitoring and Research (ISAMR) program is a diverse team of students, scientists, and educators from the United States and Canada with the mission to better understand the impact of climate change in North America.

This science and culture immersion initiative gives students the opportunity to conduct original, scientific research while exploring the cultural traditions of the Northern indigenous peoples. Participants in ISAMR monitor climate change in the subarctic region by collecting and processing data on permafrost and caribou, while applying Traditional Ecological Knowledge and developing an understanding of the cultures of the Dene, Cree, Metis, and Inuit.

Together with students from the province of Manitoba and the Junior Canadian Rangers in Churchill, Manitoba, Park School's branch of ISAMR travels to the edge of the Arctic Circle every August. The data gathered on these trips provide the basis for the work that students do throughout the school year to develop methodologies, identify trends, posit and prove theories, and interpret and share findings.

Additional opportunities for travel include presenting findings at scientific conferences, including ArcticNet's annual International Arctic Change Conference.

For more information about ISAMR, including blog entries and photos, please visit www.isamr.net.

Wapusk National Park is the third largest wetland in the world and only researchers with permits are allowed to visit this tundra that is the size of three Delawares. The only way to get to the remote research station in August is by helicopter. This chopper is nicknamed "Reese's Pieces."

Park School students with their peers from Manitoba at an archeological site in Wapusk National Park. Wopusk means "polar bear" in Cree.

ISAMR participants at the end of a long day of hiking to bogs full of reindeer lichen (Cladonia stellaris) in the Greater Churchill Wildlife Management Area. You can find this species of lichen at Soldiers Delight Natural Environment Area (in Owings Mills, Md.)

Students identify plant cover to the species level within a quadrat (a frame used to isolate a standard unit of area) on a transect in Wapusk National Park. Note: Both students pictured went on to become environmental science majors at their respective colleges.

The ISAMR group observed a polar bear mother and her cub waking up from a nap. The group then went on to paddleboard with beluga whales on a day off from field work.

ISAMR students in action on the transect probing through the thaw layer of peat to the permafrost active-layer thickness line (the part of the soil that stays frozen year-round). Research predicts that the permafrost holds approximately three times the carbon dioxide currently present in the atmosphere. As the permafrost melts, more carbon dioxide is released causing air temperatures to rise, more thawing, more carbon dioxide released, and so on.

THE PARK SCHOOL OF BALTIMORE

CLASS OF 2025

Class of 2025,

It is with joy and nostalgia that we think back over the four years we've spent together as a class at Park. We welcomed you to the Upper School four years ago, with all of us hoping to get back to "normal" following a year of virtual and hybrid learning under Covid. You were hoping high school would be different; we just wanted to get back to teaching everyone in the same room. But as we know now, we were in for anything but normal. We still wore masks and had weekly Covid tests. You had to fill out the Magnus Health Check every morning before coming to school or face Elliott and Traci sticking a thermometer in your face. We weren't yet able to do field trips so your retreat had to be on campus. But your irrepressible and quirky ideas, passions, and interests beamed out, even through these barriers.

Do you remember our first class meetings that were outside on the field? We picked a class song, Party in the USA, and voted for your 9th grade senators following speeches given through a portable speaker. Your retreat day started off with a scavenger hunt that was immediately thrown off course by a fire drill, but you quickly returned to kicking a ball around on the field, carving pumpkins, and sharing your vocal talents with the class. Even when we encouraged you to get out of your friend groups, you were clearly happiest when you had the ability to decide for yourself. This would become a pattern—you are a fiercely independent class, with strong ideas and the force of will to make them heard.

In 10th grade, you started to solidify your interests and friendships. The school broke ground on the new STEM wing and we excitedly waited for the work to be done, watching the progress from the math/science hallway windows. By the start of your junior year, you had blossomed as leaders in the activities that mattered most to you. Mock Trial, basketball, robotics, soccer, ISAMR, Postscript, sailing, and more—all grew with your engagement and thrived with your contributions. Once you became a big part of the athletic teams, we started a 3-year winning streak on Rivalry Day against Friends. As juniors, you were the core of our championship baseball team, and as seniors, brought us a field hockey title. Three of the four 9th grade senators have been involved in Student Government for all four years. You are committed performers, blowing the doors off in Chicago, serenading peers on Valentines day in Vocal Chords, Eightnotes, Parksingers, and Parkapella, to the wind and string ensembles, Park Jazz Collective, and performances in Goldsoundz. Your senior art shows are the largest in memory, with a stunning range of media, techniques, and ideas.

You have been with the Upper School through a lot of change in your four years—new buildings, new sports, new classes, new teachers to carry on our progressive traditions, a doubling in the number of Civil Rights Trips, modern language trips to new places, and more. Throughout that change you all have been consistent in your respect and acceptance of one another—you let each of your fellow classmates be who they need to be, and you are ever yourselves. And as senior leaders at this year's orientation, you made sure to continue this message to the younger students—no senior class before had ever used their last first day to cheer on Lower Schoolers as they nervously approached on their way into a new school year. This winter, one 9th grade student said, "I thought the seniors would be meaner." From the junior takeover pasture BBQ to orientation and the first day of senior year, you have shown younger students what it means to be kind and supportive to each other. You have modeled commitment to academic excellence and dedication to your passions. Yes, together you are Park's largest graduating class, but we will always remember each of you as your full, fascinating, unique selves.

With love and respect,
Melissa and Elliott

So proud of you queen!!! I can't wait to see what the future holds. Love you so much!!! Chase

CONGRATULATIONS Shelby Grace

Dear Cousin Shelby, We are so proud of all of your wonderful accomplishments! Most importantly, We are proud of the beautiful young woman you have become! Continue to reach for the sky and know that we will always be there for you! Love you, Melanie and Kallyn

Congratulations Shelby Grace! I'm so proud of the young woman you have become. I'm so excited to see what you do with your future and I'll be there every step of the way. Love you, MoMo

Shelby, we are so proud of you! With your talent, passion and spirit there is nothing that you cannot accomplish. Always be your authentic self, dream big and work hard! We love you more than words can express and will forever be your loudest cheerleaders. Congratulations, Mom & Dad

To my amazing GodKid Munchkin, watching you grow into the incredible young woman you are has been such a joy. Senior year is such a big milestone, and I'm so proud of everything you've achieved. As you step into the next chapter of your life, remember that you're capable of so much more than you even realize. Keep dreaming big and never stop believing in yourself. The world is waiting for you! I love you and can't wait to see all the amazing things you'll do. Love you always! God Mommy CoCo

Congratulations! Shelby, every year you have grown as a young woman and future citizen of this world. As you enter the next chapter of this journey called life I can't wait to see the contribution you make to society and those around you who love and support you. GodMommy is incredibly proud.

Dear Shelby Grace, Graduation is an exciting milestone! You are an outstanding young woman, gifted and talented. As we celebrate your achievements and cheer you on to your next adventure, remember that I want you to: Dream big and know that you stand on the shoulders of strong black women who also dared to dream. Enjoy new experiences; we trust you to lean into your values and standards to guide your decisions. Remember that you're a role model for Ryan and Evi; send pics and messages so they can share the journey. Count on us to support you; carry us in your heart and we'll carry you in ours! Love, GIGI

Congratulations! Your next chapter will have its share of obstacles, but you are an incredibly smart, strong, beautiful black QUEEN who can overcome anything that comes your way. So proud of you!! The Marshalls

It's incredibly rare for an educator to encounter a student as exceptional as you. I feel so deeply fortunate to have played even a small role in your journey. I'm beyond excited to see all the unique, fascinating, and challenging things you'll accomplish next. I cherish you and am truly in awe of the growth you've shown. No matter where life takes you, please know that I will be quietly cheering for you, always rooting for your success with all my heart. Congratulations, Shelby! Mrs. Anderson

Shelby, it has been a joy to watch you grow up and become a unique individual. You have faced challenges, been aware of the social issues of the day and responded in a positive manner and you have a kind heart. May God bless you as you enter this new phase of life. Enjoy each moment for each day with new blessings. Love, Nana

Activist Shelby Grace Tucker, 14, who had come to the protest from Baltimore, said getting back on the streets felt "really empowering" and was a way for younger people - who might not otherwise be able to garner attention, to "still make a difference".

Sam,

You've made the most of your time at Park and we are so proud of who you are and all you have accomplished. Now there is a whole world of possibilities out there to explore. Enjoy the journey!

Much love,
Mom and Dad

Sam,

Congratulations! I couldn't ask for a better brother. Wishing you the best of luck in your future endeavors.

Love,
Ethan

"If you put your all into everything that you do in life, even the tasks that seem like chores prove to be meaningful endeavors." – Sam Polt

While your words reflect the lesson you learned during your 2023 ISAMR trip to the Canadian Arctic, they also convey one of the many values and life lessons that Park School has infused in you and are part of who you are. Keep those values close as you turn the page to a new, challenging but exciting and ultimately rewarding, chapter in your life.

Congratulations and much love always,
Bubbe and Grandpa

A CONSUMMATE GENTLEMAN. BRILLIANT. CRAFTY. CONSISTENT. DEDICATED. FOCUSED. HONEST. HUMBLE. INTELLIGENT. LOVING. PRAGMATIC. SENSIBLE. VIRTUOUS.

Sam,

You've had the benefit of a good education from Park School, as well as the love of family and friends.

Yet, you have never taken anything for granted. You are full of empathy, with a strong moral compass, and a kind heart. We are so proud of you and love you more than words can say.

Asher - From your first days on this earth, to your first days of learning, through your final days in high school, you have brought unending happiness into our lives. Your passion for sports, quiet humor and strategic mind are just a few of the things that make you who you are. We are in awe of all that you have accomplished and can't wait to see what awaits you in the days and years ahead. We are beyond proud and love you so much! Congratulations! Love, Mom, Dad, Madden and the 4 crazies

Glorya Imani Gorham

My Ja'el... you've changed my life for the better. We grown together. I am honored to be your mother and ecstatic about the woman you are becoming. There is a level of poise, a depth of wisdom, and a wealth of insight in you NOW that inspires me and there's even more to come in your future. I love you to the bone, sweat, and spirit. Success is what you define, so go be GREAT!
Your mom, Keiona Trinae Faulkner-Gorham

To our precious Ry,
We are in awe of you. Watching you grow has been an honor and a joy. With every move, challenge, and opportunity you grab hold of life with infinite curiosity, creativity and kindness. We are so excited for the many adventures to come.

Love always, Mama, Daddy and Noah

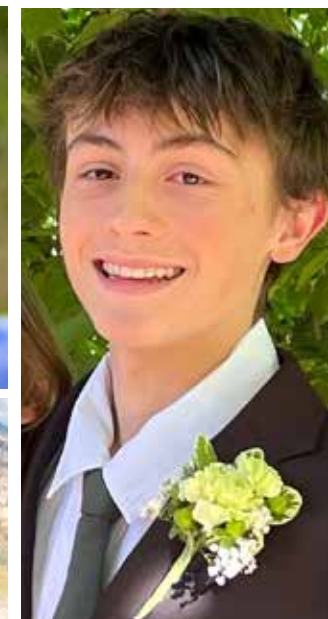

EMILIO!

We're immensely proud of what a kind, compassionate, hard-working, and impressive problem solver you are. The future is brighter with you in it.
Love, Mom

I am so proud of your accomplishments, but most of all I have loved watching you mature into the caring, empathetic and trusting person that you are.
Love, Dad

I'm so proud of you kiddo!! I will always be your #1 fan and I can't imagine having a better sibling (except if you let me one at least one game of wingspan...). You are thoughtful, hard working, kind, and the world is a better place with you in it. I will always be in your corner - no matter what - but I can't wait to see you shine!

CONGRATS on a GREAT HIGH SCHOOL CAREER!

SARAH DANIEL

Sarah - You will own Penn State and quickly become the mayor. Like you have at Park! Everyone who knows you loves you. And - everyone knows you!

Daniel - West Virginia University won't know how to handle you and your handsome and charming ways! You will be great in the Engineering Program.

You both leave Park with incredible memories and have become amazing people. I am super proud, everyday, of you both!

Dionna,

We have been so many places together: Paris, London, Dubai, Hawaii, Vegas, LA

However

I cannot go with you on your journey to self-discovery.

I can tell you to:

Make bold choices,

Wise decisions and

Laugh and live out loud!

I cannot wait to see where your life will take you.

Love,

Auntie

A Journey

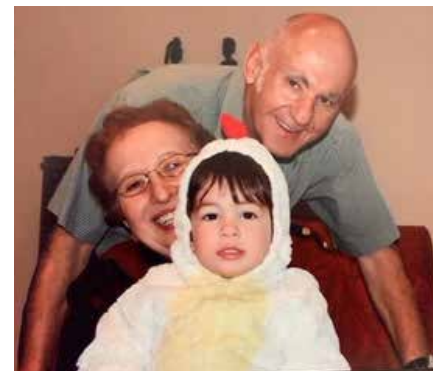

By Nikki Giovanni

It's a journey . . . that I propose . . . I am not the guide . . . nor technical assistant . . . I will be your fellow passenger . . . Though the rail has been ridden . . . winter clouds cover . . . autumn's exuberant quilt . . . we must provide our own guideposts . . . I have heard . . . from previous visitors . . . the road washes out sometimes . . . and passengers are compelled . . . to continue groping . . . or turn back . . . I am not afraid . . . I am not afraid . . . of rough spots . . . or lonely times . . . I don't fear . . . the success of this endeavor . . . I am Ra . . . in a space . . . not to be discovered . . . but invented . . . I promise you nothing . . . I accept your promise . . . of the same we are simply riding . . . a wave . . . that may carry . . . or crash . . . It's a journey . . . and I want . . . to go . . .

Zachy,
We are so proud of you and are excited to see what comes next!

Pasha,

Your journey has been anything but ordinary, and that's what makes it so extraordinary. Through every challenge, every new school, and every change, you have shown strength, courage, and an unshakable spirit. No matter where life took you, you never gave up—you adapted, you grew, and you thrived. But what makes us most proud is not just what you've overcome, but the kindness and warmth you've shared along the way. You have built friendships and life bonds that are a testament to the incredible person you are—loyal, loving, and full of light.

As you step into this next chapter, always remember: You are capable, you are unstoppable, and you are so deeply loved. The best is yet to come!!! Your kind heart and sense of humor will take you far in life Pasha!! We can't wait to see what lies ahead for your journey!!!

We Love you and support you every step of the way Pasha!!!
